Individual Reflection, Antonia Welzel

What do I want to learn or understand better?

I have again learned more about JavaScript, HTML and CSS, but I still want to get a better understanding of JavaScript functions in general as well as writing more modular code by looking up how other programmers have worked with this.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

Another group member and I reviewed each other's code, which helped make sure that we did not miss any important details for the merge of branches and that the code was well documented.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

We all kept working on improving our task breakdown, which was something we wanted to improve after our last sprint retrospective. We also wanted to review each other's code and started using the review function on GitHub. I have also tried to use Trello more efficiently by looking over the Scrum board and updating it more frequently.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I finished the tasks I was assigned this week, where I also worked together with another group member. I contributed to writing the team reflection and the sprint retrospective.
